

Monday, December 12, 2016

http://www.westportnow.com/index.php?/v3/comments/rehearsing_for_tonights_playhouse_reading/

Rehearsing for Tonight's Playhouse Reading

Actors and staff members paused today during a rehearsal for tonight's Westport Country Playhouse Script In Hand reading of Pulitzer Prize-nominated drama "Collected Stories" by Donald Margulies. The production is about a conflict between an established artist and her adulatory fan who becomes a protege, disciple, colleague, and friend. The reading is directed by Anne Keefe, Playhouse associate artist and curator of the play reading series. There are still a few tickets available, according to a Playhouse spokesperson. It starts at 7 p.m. Pictured: (standing, l-r) Anne Keefe, director and script-in-hand curator, Martha Stout, stage directions and Ed Herman, stage manager with actors (seated) Zoe Winters (l) and Maria Tucci. (CLICK TO ENLARGE) Dave Matlow for WestportNow.com

Monday, December 12, 2016

Green Room Celebrating

http://www.westportnow.com/index.php?/v3/comments/green_room_celebrating/

Anne Keefe (r), Westport Country Playhouse script-in-hand reading curator, celebrates in the Green Room tonight with actors Maria Tucci (l) and Zoe Winters following their reading of “Collected Stories.” Keefe announced the next three dates of the highly successful script-in-hand series - Feb. 6, March 13, and April 24. She said the titles will be announced later. All tickets are $20 and are available at the box office or online. (CLICK TO ENLARGE) Dave Matlow for WestportNow.com

Posted 12/12/16 at 10:26 PM